I.  Call to Order and Welcome (Margaret Coppe)

II.  Members’ Reports / Members’ Concerns

Margaret Coppe: I have before me a letter from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts State Ethics Commission in response to Dr. Ash’s request for review of a possible conflict of interest due to his consulting work with Ribas Associates.
The letter states that, “…after a careful review the matter does not require presentation to the Commission for official action…as long as you did not participate as superintendent in any matter of interest to Ribas, received no compensation from Ribas, or act as agent for Ribas vis-à-vis the town, and had no financial interest in Ribas’ contract with the town.”

Rod Cole: At Hastings my son’s teacher could not let me leave without telling me about an Elmo (a document camera) with which you can take pictures and project them. She said it has been transformational for teaching.

Tom Diaz: We have a government funded plan to install additional security cameras. My friends from the ACLU are interested in this and hope we are doing this in ways that could be a model for other school systems. They wondered if we have procedures regarding personal privacy and security cameras. At some time the School Committee might want to see a report about it.

Jessie Steigerwald: At Diamond they made a serious effort to discuss the situation of the student who committed suicide as a result of bullying.

Mary Ann Stewart: I want to clarify that the suicide was in another community
