II. Superintendent’s Announcements
Dr. Ash announced late this afternoon he received call from Mark Fillipino of the Lexington Minuteman newspaper requesting a comment on a press that a former student, Robert Ernst, spoke at a forum held by U.S. Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee. He spoke about his experience on being held in a seclusion room while in elementary school. Dr. Ash stated that Lexington Public Schools (LPS) has a policy in place as of 2002 which prohibit seclusion rooms. Further, state law mandates that if a student needs to be separated from class, a teacher must be able to see the student at all times. Dr. Ash also shared the professional learning and Crisis Prevention Institute (CPI) training that LPS teachers participate in. Teachers are specifically trained in de-escalating matters but some students may need to be restrained. Dr. Ash stated LPS takes this seriously and if a restraint is used, it must be reported to the state.
